CROWN PLAYERS PRESENT SCENE

"A Date One Sunday Afternoon," a highly amusing one act play by James Hagen, was given at the assembly last Thursday by members of Valley's College's Crown Players.

The skit, directed by drama instructor Bob E. Davis, starred Dick Reynolds, Dee Yrigoyen, Barbara Price and Stan Fishman. The scene, highlighted by the players costumed in period dress, marked the first in a series of special interest meetings at Valley.

Emcee Walter Coultas, dean of instruction, introduced Donald Prismon, philosophy instructor, who gave some inspiring thoughts on the meaning of Armistice Day. Mr. Prismon also put on display a photostatic copy of the front page of the Los Angeles Times, dated Nov. 11, 1918.

Similar programs will be given for assemblies approximately every two weeks to bring to Valley students interesting, informative and enjoyable entertainment.

Petitions Available For Openings On Council

Any student at Valley who has the necessary qualifications may still circulate a petition to become a member of the Executive Council, since the vacancies left by the resignation of Berle Brown and Beverly Zanoline have not yet been filled, says Dick Yamashita, AS vice president.

To qualify to circulate a petition, a student must be a Beta, Gamma or Delta student, be registered in at least 12 units of work, and have a 1.5 grade average.

Any interested person should obtain a petition from Mrs. Nena Royer, dean of activities.

Cyclone Malone To Give Show

The Cyclone Malone show, which appears on television, will come to Valley College Tuesday, November 21, in College Hall at 11 a.m. Miss Helen Mindlin, sponsor of the AWS who is backing the show, remarked, "These are the cleverest marionettes on T.V. The eyebrows and the ears move by the cleverest manipulation and all of the settings and props are cut to size, so when the marionettes are viewed, they look like full size people."

It is rumored that Cyclone Malone will swear Director Vierling Kersey in as a deputy sheriff of Yagow Junction.

Cyclone may be seen every night at 6:45 on KNBH (channel 4). Dorothy Novis and Ann Davis are co-producers, writers and directors of the show.

Dance To Climax Gay Festivities Of Homecoming

With regal pomp and circumstance, Valley College's Homecoming Queen, with a wave of her royal sceptre, will open the doors of the First Annual Homecoming Dance and in doing so will bring to a climax a week of gaiety, excitement and festivities.

The affair, which will last from 9 p.m. until 12 p.m. will be held in College Hall. The admission price will be $1.00 for stags and $1.75 per couple. At least one member of the couple must possess an Associated Student card.

The queen, accompanied by her court, will be the honored guests at the dance and will be presented with gifts donated by San Fernando Valley merchants.

Bill Tunnell will be emcee of the ceremony at which Rae Vackar, queen, will be presented with the gifts.

Promising to be the social highlight of the semester, the theme of the dance is to be "King Football," with original decorations carrying out the theme. Members of the football team are also to be honored guests.

The royal musicians will be Tommy Jones and his band. Jones is noted for the variety in types and tempos of the music he employs.

Date dresses and suits will be the dress of the evening.

Lettermen Hold Beauty Contest To Find Queen

Rae Vackar is queen of the Monarchs during the first Homecoming at Valley College. The princesses are Barbara Price, Joan Williams, Rillis Hanna and Colleen Lazenby.

Judging took place last Tuesday in College Hall under the direction of the Lettermen. The judges were Pete Kokon, sports writer from The Valley Times; Stuart Bankhardt of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce; Allen McKee, program director of KGIL; Ferdinand Mendenhall, editor of the Van Nuys News; and Rudy Jackson, president of the Van Nuys Retail Merchants. Ed Austin, Lettermen president, was emcee.

There were three ballots for each candidate from each judge. Each time the candidates were judged on general appearance, posture, poise and facial expression. For the first ballot each girl appeared in sweater and skirt; for the second, in date dress and heels; and for the third, each spoke, giving her name and the name of the club that sponsored her.

Warner Brothers furnished the formal for the queen and her four princesses for all Homecoming activities.

BULLETIN

THE VALLEY STAR will not be printed next week, because of the Thanksgiving vacation. The next issue of the STAR will be on December 1.

The staff of the STAR wishes "A nice Thanksgiving" to all students, faculty and administrators of Valley College.

Remember the parade tonight and the game and dance tomorrow.

Royalty, Banner, Floats To Appear In First Parade

Homecoming festivities at Valley College will shine at their brightest when the first parade in the history of the College begins tonight at 7 p.m.

The floats in the parade are to be judged between the halves of Saturday's football game between Harbor Junior College and Valley. A trophy will be given to the club with the winning float.

Heading the parade will be the Homecoming student committee, Director Vierling Kersey and the Queen and her court. Riding in the first car will be the student committee consisting of Dick Yamashita, Perry Carson, Delaine Hazen, Bill Tunnell, Katherine Moore and Karl von Poederoyen.

Director Kersey and student president, Mike Seeger, will be in the second car, and riding in the third auto will be the Queen and princesses.

The parade of floats will form between Kester Ave. and Cedros Ave. on Hamlin St. in Van Nuys. Everyone connected with the parade must be there by 6 p.m. and not later, stated Mike Seeger, Associated Students' president. The parade will move south on Cedros Ave. to Victory Blvd., proceed east on Victory Blvd. to

KERSEY ATTENDS FALL MEETING FOR EDUCATORS

By DICK MCGOWAN

Dr. Vierling Kersey, director of Valley College, attended the Annual Fall Meeting of the California State Junior College Association. The meeting was held at the Ahwahnee Hotel, Yosemite National Park, Nov. 8-10.

"Progress in General Education" was the theme of the session.

General Education is receiving extended consideration in college administration because of criticism of college students. This criticism is based on the assumption that college students are not fundamentally well equipped with those knowledges and abilities which make one generally well educated. In many junior colleges throughout California, courses in "general education" are offered. These courses are established for the purpose of developing individuals of well rounded personality, with broad backgrounds of enrichment in sound educational development.

Army Calls Wyatt Seal, Campus Y President

Wyatt Seal, president of the Student "Y" at Valley College, left for training for the Army last Wednesday.

Wyatt, a graduate of Van Nuys High school, was active in many civic affairs. He worked for the YMCA, and was a member of the Co-ordinating Council of Van Nuys. He was also a member of the "Masquers," the drama club at Van Nuys High.

He had completed two semesters at UCLA, and was a Gamma student at Valley.

KNIGHTS TO WIN, SAY KNIGHTS

"Can the Faculty beat the Knights?" challenges Bill Wells, president of the Knights.

The football game between the Knights and Faculty will be played Nov. 28 at 11 a.m. on the Van Nuys High School field. The outcome of the game will be hard to predict, but as Philip Clarke, sponsor of the Knights, comments, "I predict the Knights to win by four touchdowns."

Starting players for the Knights will be Fred DeLuca, Bob Knight, Tom Church, Paul Price, Larry Grismer, Chuck Allen, Ed Austin, Wes Hessler, Bob Bowen, Bob Baker, Jim Roemaker and Wells.

Faculty players will include Walter Coultas, William McNelis, James Slosson, Noel Korn, Edward Clark, Robert Nassi, John Penery, Harry Beck, Mr. Clarke and Coaches Charles Mann, Ben McFarland and E. Y. Johnson.

Monarch Homecoming

Valley College's first Annual Homecoming needs the backing and support of every student registered at Valley and every person who lives in the various communities in San Fernando Valley.

This is the beginning of a great tradition at Valley. If it is a success, and it can be, then all alumni, not only this year but every semester from now on, will want to return to Valley for Homecoming activities.

However, if it isn't a success, all the work which was done by the Homecoming committees will have been in vain. The present committee has paved the way for the future committee to build a strong tradition which alumni of Valley will long remember.

Each of the activities planned must be supported because each seems to rely on the other; and, if one is poorly supported, then the support won't be there for the next activity.

All the students of Valley should be at that parade tonight and should see that every person who is connected with the college in any way is there also.

The Homecoming committees want a 100 percent turnout for this parade. How about proving that it can be done?

There is to be no admission charge at the game tomorrow afternoon; therefore, there is no excuse for not supporting the Monarchs. The fellows are going to try desperately to win this game; they don't want to win just for themselves, but rather they want to win for Valley College.

Let the team know there are rooters in the stands caring whether those yards are gained or lost.

The players need all the cheering and backing they can get. Be at that game tomorrow and prove just how much the students at Valley do care.

Tomorrow night a queen will reign over the festivities at the first Homecoming Dance. She will represent Valley College at the activity which winds up Homecoming Week. Be there to salute Valley College's first Homecoming Queen.

Kersey Attends

Dr. Kersey expressed the conviction that "the balanced program of required curriculum offerings, the intimate small-sized classes maintained at Valley and the rich personal counseling program is an adequate satisfaction of all of the requirements, which general education may be set up to accomplish."

Another of the important topics considered at the conference was the subject of accreditation for junior colleges. According to Director Kersey, "This is a matter which will receive much study and will doubtless result in the approval of an agency. The duties of this agency would be to accredit junior colleges in accordance with acceptable criteria. Progress in the matter of accreditation will be developed and recorded from time to time."

Probably the most interesting of all the discussions had to do with the approval of the report prepared by the State Athletic Committee of the State Association of Junior College Administrators. The most important point in the report dealt with out-of-state junior college games.

There was also consideration of the following resolution passed by the California State Athletic Committee:

"For some years the members of the State Athletic Committee and many of the junior college administrators and coaches have been concerned:

(a) because of the heavy expense involved in sending athletics to the so-called national events of the National Junior

College Athletic Association; (b) and because these events are participated in to only a small degree by athletics representing junior colleges outside California;

(c) and because these events are, in the main, simply additional contests between junior colleges of California, which in most instances have already met one or more times during the season of the sport;

(d) and finally because of the completely undemocratic form of organization of the N. J. C. A. A.

The State Athletic Committee recommends to the California State Junior College Association that, under present conditions, California junior colleges discontinue participation in events of the N.J.C.A.A."

Dr. Kersey's report will be continued in the next issue of the STAR.

Class Elections? 'No Word' Yet!

What has happened to our class elections? Who are our class leaders? What activity is your class planning to sponsor?

These questions are yet unanswered. Here it is midterm, and as yet there has been no word of class elections. Who is to blame and whose control are the elections under seems to be a controversial question.

Mike Seeger, Associated Students President, has stated that: "The absence of class elections is the past class president's fault. There is no reason why the Executive Council should be held responsible for something that is not under its control."

Bob Lunsford, a recent representative of Valley College to the Sacramento Convention of Junior Colleges and former AS president, agrees that there should be an election but: "It is up to the I.O.C. Talk to Dick Yamashita, chairman of the I.O.C."

Bill Tunnell, managing editor of the VALLEY STAR, and Bob Baker, AMS president, agree with Lunsford that the responsibility "is up to the I.O.C."

Dick Yamashita, chairman of the Inter-Organization Council, when put on the spot said: "I believe there should be class elections, and it is entirely up to the former class presidents to make the preparations. The constitution allows for the elections but has no law in it that makes them required."

The school constitution states: "Each class, club or organization holding membership in the I.O.C. shall appoint its President as its

In the Mood

By DICK MCGOWAN

Wait till you see the float Sigma Alpha Phi is sponsoring for Valley's first Homecoming. The club is going all out to make this big day a success.

Phi Alpha Sigma, the women's chapter of the Music Club, has asked me to mention their name in this column. They have submitted their constitution and are making plans for a wonderful organization.

Phil Harris has really come up with a hit on his latest record, "The Thing." This recording is really sweeping the country and rightly so, unless it gets banned from the radio. It would make quite a party record. All I've heard this past week is, "Have you heard 'The Thing'?" Even Dick Degnon likes it.

Mr. Tunnell seems to have done a better job with this "Mood" column than yours truly. He should. He used to be my main source of information, but lately he has been too busy guessing who the Lion was. Seriously though I would like to thank Bill for taking over in my absence. He did a wonderful job.

Perry Como is singing a lot of his old songs on his T.V. show. Remember "Song of Songs" and "If I Loved You." Perry has really turned into a first class showman, and his show is one of the best.

Valley College will display, for the first time, their banner at the parade this evening. Money for this banner was donated by the Van Nuys News.

representative on the Council." But there is no clause forcing organizations to join the I.O.C.

The Valley Forge

By Bill Tunnell

There were a few individuals around campus last week who seemed to think that I knew who was going to be the Homecoming Queen. They insisted that all these contests were fixed long before they were judged.

Rules

I couldn't figure how a queen contest could be fixed until I sat down and reviewed the rules for judging. Each judge is given a certain number of points, which he can split, giving the largest number of points to his choice for queen, a lower number to his second choice and so on. It figures out that if one judge gives his total number of points to one girl she would be almost positive to win. This is the only way it could be fixed.

Lose Face

Now, we have a big business man, prominent and established, voting on one of these contests. Would it be logical that he, with so much at stake, would take the chance to throw the contest to one girl because he happened to know her distant third cousin. This is pure nonsense. This sort of type of thinking can not only cast suspicious eyes at the judges, but it also ruins all the fun for the contestants. What starts out as good clean fun can end up with broken friendships and jealousies. Steady, kids, let's not lose our equilibrium on these things.

Congrats!!

I wish to bestow my FORGE FAVOR this week to the QUEEN OF VALLEY, RAE VACKAR.

Art Club Elects New Chairman

The Valley College Art Club was organized this week. The purposes of the organization are to promote and maintain an interest in art among the members and to render service to both the students and the college.

Elections were held at the first meeting. Patti Murphy was chosen chairman; Charlene Backus, assistant chairman; Barbara Roy, secretary-treasurer; and Gene Stauffer, publicity chairman. Miss Marie Scott, art instructor, is sponsor.

In addition to service to the college, which has already begun since the club assisted with the Homecoming floats, the club has tentative plans that include: art exhibits, trips, lectures, and work on the college seal.

Mann's Monarchs Out To Spill Harbor J. C. In Homecoming Clash

By DICK DEGNON

Hoping to cap Valley College's first annual Homecoming week with a win over Harbor Jaycee, the Monarchs will tangle with Coach Joe Berry's Seahawks tomorrow at 2 p.m. on Van Nuys High's Smith Field. A free admission turnout of near 2,000 is anticipated for the contest.

The Seahawks will take the field, resting in third place in the Metro conference after downing San Diego Jaysee last Friday 13-0.

Joe Berry's well rounded squad has the top defensive team in Southland jaysee football. They have had but 53 points tallied against them in seven games.

The Seahawks employ the intricate A formation as did Bakersfield, which promises to give all followers an-afternoon of razzle-dazzle football.

Their chief offensive threats are Ken Fontes, a 225 pounder, who has had little trouble all year long cracking any line. Other top offensive performers are left half Joe Lingrey, who passes as well as handling some of the running chores.

Other notables in the backfield are Joe Flores and Jim Allen, who help round out the offensive statistics.

Valley coach, Charles Mann, who has scouted the Seahawks in several frays to date and brings home weird stories of their prowess, states that one of the finest ends in jaysee football will see action for Harbor in the personage of Fred Ihde, a 203 pound behemoth who was injured in a motorcycle accident last week but who will start anyway. He's a whiz on defense, having few peers in two year college football.

Harbor will field a fast and beefy line that tips the scales near 190 pounds. Spud Murphy, a guard, weighs in at 245.

Coach Mann hopes to surprise the visitors and send them home tagged with a loss. Valley's chief

Valley Harriers Go to East LA for Circuit Meet

Valley College's cross country harriers face one of their toughest tasks of the season when they meet some of the best local junior college teams in the league conference meet this afternoon on the rugged ELAJC course.

Long Beach, favorite, is undefeated this year, and under the guidance of their famous coach El Patton, will field a strong winning team.

Valley's hopes were jolted last week when their ace runner, Jim Mickey, was declared ineligible because of a residential technicality ruling.

Valley won two meets last week and lost one. The harriers lost LACC 23-45 and beat Santa Monica CC, 20-40. Pasadena CC forfeited their meet with Valley and thus gave Valley two wins for the week.

Valley beat Santa Monica decisively by sweeping the next six places after Dave Hutchins took a first for Santa Monica. John Garcia took second place and was followed by Don Hoover, Les Morris, Dwight Mobley, Clive Rogers, Ed Masry and Sheldon Auerbach.

The LACC meet proved to be a different story, however, as the boys from City College routed Valley. Joe Tyler, 1949 all city high school cross country champion, garnered the blue ribbon. Tyler's time for the 2.8 miles was fast 14:51.

John Garcia, who is rapidly becoming Valley's star runner, took third place for the Green and Gold. Garcia was followed by Les Morris and Dwight Mobley, who took fourth and fifth respectively. Clive Rogers and Sheldon Auerbach trailed close behind for Valley.

Pons Explains WAA Membership

Any woman in college who is interested in playing a more advanced sport and playing other colleges is welcome to join the Women's Athletic Association, according to Miss Jeanne Pons, sponsor.

It is possible to be in the WAA while taking a regular physical education class is taken along with a WAA class. Both of these classes must be taken during the same semester before admittance to the organization will be allowed.

The WAA classes will be scheduled in the afternoon and will consist of tennis, badminton, bowling, softball and volleyball.

Jenks Sets Hot Pace

Wilford Jenks, faculty representative, hit for a sizzling 17 and 3 on last week's STAR Pigskin Prognostications to set a new high for future faculty crystal ball gazers to shoot at. He broke the two week deadlock between the Student Body and the professors with his work.

Brad Browne, sports editor of the STAR, still continued to rage a torrid duel with his sports contemporary Dick Degnon as both pickers emerged for the third straight week with the same marks. Each guessed 17 out of 20 games and picked up two games on pace setter Roger Murphy who hit the coveted 100 circle with a 15 and 5. Murphy has led since the second week of the selection feature.

Monarchs Invited To Participate In Glendale Tourney

Valley College has been invited to participate in the Sam Barry Memorial Basketball Tourney to be held on Dec. 26-30, Coach Ben McFarland announced this week.

The tourney is sponsored by the Glendale Kiwanis Club and was formerly called the Glendale Invitational; but due to the recent passing of Sam Barry, USC's great basketball coach, the name was altered to honor the deceased hoop mentor. It is based on an elimination-consolation basis with each team guaranteed to participate in at least two games. Some of the top jaysee fives in Southland ranks will enter the four-day tourney that highlights Christmas week.

McFarland has been working his charges daily, and things are shaping up. They have new practice suits that have reversible tops that can be changed to either green or gold.

Several hot candidates will report immediately after football season is over. Two, who are out for football and who will probably make McFarland's squad, are Dave Summers and Tom Branigan.

McFarland has been working Ralph Clements, who appears to have a forward berth nailed down; Frank Lowery, George Carr and Herb Hain at the other forward spot; Howie Cole and Bob Hanson at center; and Bill Wells, Bill Weigman and Tom Bohn at the guard slots. This is not McFarland's starting five, but this is how the squad appears to shape up after a month's work.

Valley Downed By Good Glendale CC Aggregation, 27-0

In a practice game with Glendale last Thursday night, the Valley Monarchs ran up against a stone wall as the Glendale boys rolled over Valley by a score of 27 to 0 at Glendale.

The Vaqueros were nothing exceptional as individual players, but team work was the key to their victory.

Glendale's Bob Murphy was by far the star of the day both on offense and defense. Murphy scored two of the four Glendale touchdowns.

With the game only five minutes old, Murphy scored for Glendale then kicked the extra point. Still in the first quarter, Powell of Glendale went 47 yards before Ernie Chacon of Valley stopped him. From there Westling scored for Glendale from the 2 yard line. Eldredge kicked the conversion, and the first quarter ended with Glendale leading the Valley boys 14 to 0.

Then in the second quarter, Powell of Glendale passed to Murphy for 34 yards. Powell then passed to Castle for another Glendale score, and so the half ended 21 to 0 in favor of the Vaqueros.

Walt Ambord of Valley made some great attempts at passing but was rushed too much. One of his passes to Bill Baker was good for 45 yards, but the Monarchs were unable to score.

The third quarter found Valley holding Glendale scoreless though the powerful line work of Glendale really gave the Monarchs a real work out.

Then in the fourth quarter, the Vaqueros and their powerhouse scored again but were unable to kick the extra point.

Glendale displayed nothing but great team work. Every move they made revolved around the whole team.

Spanish Group Holds 'Finance Float' Eve

"Los Gauchos and Senoritas" of the Spanish Club held an evening party last week at the Van Nuys YMCA to collect "muchos pesos" to finance the float they are entering in the Homecoming parade Nov. 18.

Highlighting the party were musical renditions by Valley students on the guitar and accordion. Feature of the evening was a vocal solo by Ruth Reynolds, a former professional night club entertainer.

Over 50 guests attended the festive event and $25 were collected towards the float. Refreshments, donated by Richard Adams, were served and the guests concluded the evening dancing tangos and rhumbas.

"A French spy was in our midst," remarked Robert Nassi, Valley instructor who co-sponsors the Spanish group with Joseph Puig. Ed Scharff, French Club president, attended the affair, and admitted "somewhat reluctantly" that he enjoyed himself.

Scharff comments, "The Spanish students displayed lots of spirit. I hope the friendly rivalry between the two clubs will continue and we may share many activities together in the future."

"You and Yours"—the slogan that will grow more popular as the months march by, and as the first nip of winter, becomes the real thing. Maybe you'll cherish cozy flannel, wool or velveteen slacks for looking smart around the open fire, or equally good to wear outside. Even newer than the change of the seasons . . . the elegant steady coat that conquers a world of its own "know-how" when worn as an evening wrap or topper.

You need no sixth sense to appreciate the two-fold value of soft velvet lounging slippers that look fragile, but fit enough for any night of merrymaking.

STEP LIVELY

Your feet may not be as nimble or as quick as the scattered leaves, but this season they wear colors formerly intended for leaves only. Shiny browns, russet and golden honey are all new colored leathers for your favorite "flat" or "flattery" shoe.

Now comes the gayest and most heartwarming time of the year; the festive holiday season when everybody who isn't giving a party—is going to one. For party goers . . . luscious hosiery delicately lined with "picture-frame" seams or worked patterns . . . rhinestone buckles tagged to your shiny opera pumps . . . a bright plaid hostess apron to cover your Sunday best, before carving the turkey!

For your successful holiday campaign, imagine yourself in a soft cashmere sweater that wears a bright bib of pastel colored pearls . . . and then do something about it. Toss convention to the winds and give last year's formal this year's look . . . add a spidery veil stole, glistening with sequins . . . tie securely and then float gracefully to the music of sharp Christmas bells!

Valley-Go-Round

By DODIE JOYCE

Thanksgiving is almost here again, and with it comes the sparkling thought of turkey dinner and all the trimmings, a gay Christmas season just around the corner—and a four day holiday for Valley students!

It's nice to reminisce just about this time and give thanks for so many things that might be taken for granted all year 'round.

A pleasant thought is thinking about belonging to a college that has made so much progress in its short existence. A good marker of this progress is the gala Homecoming float parade tonight, and the anticipated dance and football game tomorrow. The suspense of "Who will be Queen?" is finally over, and the queen and her court will reign over the half-time game activities and dance tomorrow!

Congratulations to Valley's first Homecoming queen and her princesses! They have established a tradition at Valley which will continue on through college life on Valley's campus.

Seal Leaves for Army

One familiar face will be missing from campus after this week. Wyatt Seal, popular president of the Student Y Club, will leave for Army training. Best of luck, Wyatt.

That's thirty for now and happy four-day vacation to everyone!

There will be 11 floats, each pulled by a car. Convertibles will carry the queen and the administrative personnel.

The first float in the parade will be the French Club's entry. The floats of the Student Y, Coronets and Knights, Spanish Club, Psychology Club, Music Club, Lettermen's Club, Newman Club, Engineering Club, Alpha Tau and Alpha Phi Epsilon, Ice Skating and Ski Clubs will follow in order.

Merchants Contribute Valley Queen Prizes

San Fernando Valley merchants contributing prizes to the Homecoming Queen and princesses are Floral Craft, Moffatt's Jewelers, Rathbun's Miss America, Good Housekeeping of Van Nuys, Southland Music, Mayor's Jewelers, Sporty Knit, Leeds Shoes, Ronay's Dress Shop, Harold Hall, photographer; Stark's Jewelers, Billie Moore Dress Shop, Wilson's Apparel and Mark Jewelers.

'Baby Sharks' Added To Zoology Department

Instead of sharks dissecting people with razor edge teeth and a lick of their chops, the situation is just in the reverse at Valley College. To see why their systems can hold so many "hoom-ins," Allan Keller's Zoology II students have sharpened their knives and are ready for next week's operation on the formaldehyde beasts.

The Dog-fish shark is an unusual thing, for it is neither a true fish nor true mammal. The cartilage skeleton keeps it in a primitive form; and, because it does not feed its young, it cannot be classified as mammal.

The baby sharks, that arrived a week ago from Chicago, will be distributed to each student for detailed class study.

Matrix Members Attend Banquet Given by LACC

Valley College's Beta chapter of the Matrix Table, women's honorary journalism society, became official Saturday evening at an impressive installation ceremony at the Hollywood Athletic Club.

Those attending from Valley were guests of the Alpha chapter of LACC and were installed in the organization by Ardeth Havlik, president of the LACC chapter.

Charter members of Valley's Beta chapter are Dellaine Hazen, STAR editor, Dona Raddatz, Marjorie Elliott, Dodie Joyce and sponsor, Mrs. Esther R. Davis.

Miss Kathryn Lambeau, sponsor of LACC's chapter, gave a short talk on "contacts" following the banquet dinner.
